The online job catalog for corporate reprints.

With jtweb software modules, you can expand your jtman 3 CRD / Business solution into a professional-grade Print on Demand portal for the intranet or Internet. jtweb is web submission at its best.

Job catalogue

Use jtweb Reprint to put your corporate print material online – and give your personnel instant access to pre-prints, forms and applications. Users simply log into a protected area, click the form they want, enter number of copies and due time and submit the print job.

Online print preview

Is this really the preprint I need? jtweb's unique online preview gives users another look at the document they have requested, enabling them to double-check before printing.

Job&Order Ticket goes online

The password-protected login automatically loads relevant data such as the client, cost centre and authorisations, and submits these details to the printshop along with the job. All this data is part of the jtman Job&Order Ticket. The information helps the admin workflows in the printshop, speeding every stage from delivery to billing.

Zero-compromise printing

In the central repro department, incoming print jobs are handled using the proven power of jtman print software. With a uniquely multi-talented toolbox of functions, the software delivers absolutely professional print products.

Overproduction? Never again!

With such a practical, speedy solution to paperwork, there's no need to order forms for stock. And no risk of holding an entire inventory of obsolete preprints! When changes are due, forms can be updated quite simply in the single, centralised job catalogue.

Ease of use

Placing an order from the corporate job catalogue couldn't be easier. Featuring a smart, simple interface, jtweb walks users through the process in a few easy steps. Which ensures a favourable reception for the system – and a good take-up rate among employees – right from day one.

Cost reduction is included

As you'd expect, this form of paper management is cheaper than stockpiling preprinted forms. If you'd like to find out the cost-saving potential for your enterprise, our team of experts will be happy to help.
